fulfilled all the required performing tests and public concert appearances. It is possible for the same student to earn both degrees.

The holders of teaching certificates get appointments as specialized instructors of music in state schools and a priority in filling positions in case of a vacancy in state schools.

Q. Do the students dedicate all their time to the study of music or do some of them also attend schools of general education?

A. The students dedicate themselves completely to the professional study of music in their chosen branch. They are required to furnish proof of completion of primary and secondary education or its equivalent.

Q. What occasions are there for students to perform?

A. We have a student symphony orchestra under the direction of Armando Sayas, and a student chamber music orchestra directed by Jorge Serafin. The musical life at the conservatory is intense, and there are numerous public student recitals given during the year.

Q. What percentage of students enter the profession, and what opportunities exist in Mexico to exercise the music profession in concert and teaching fields?

A. About 12 to 15 per cent of the student body graduate with degrees each year. I must admit that the music field is limited and girls usually marry after graduation. A professional musician usually obeys a vocational impulse so intensely that he does not take into consideration the material problems which he will encounter later.

Q. Does the Mexican Government encourage the music profession? What does it do for young musicians?

A. It does encourage the music profession. The Mexican Government budgets annually 45,000 pesos (about $4,000) for scholarships, free meals, and prizes for talented needy students while they are still at the Conservatory.

Q. Do some graduates go to foreign countries to perfect their art? Do they go on their own or get government subsidy?

A. Quite a few distinguished graduates go to the United States to continue their studies and some go to Europe—France, Italy, Ger-
